Wet Weather Delays Threshing

The heavy rains early this week again delayed threshing and it is questionable whether any threshing will be done this week.

Farmers would be well advised to have their wheat tested for moisture before threshing, so as to eliminate the marketing of tough grain.

With the heavy crop in the West it is likely that there will be a congestion and the elevators will be required to store a large quantity of the crop and it will be a difficult matter to handle tough grain.

U.G.G. Elevator Increase Capacity.

Workmen are busy erecting an annex to increase the capacity of the U.G.G. Elevator. The new annex will have a capacity of 22,000 bushel and will bring the capacity of the plant up to 52,000.

It is expected to have the building completed early next week.

Red Cross Notes.

Lt.-Col. Tomlinson, Alberta Commissioner for the Red Cross, visited the local branch last week.

The Colonel expressed his pleasure at the progress that had been made in the organization work. He said that it had not been possible as yet to get supplies and thought it would be four or five weeks before supplies would be on hand. No demand had yet been made from the Canadian Forces, but orders had already been received from the British and French Red Cross.

Last Link of B.C. Road Completed

Officials of the Federal department of mines and resources said Friday at Revelstoke, that the Revelstoke-Golden sections of the Big Bend highway have been connected, completing the last link of the trans-Canada highway west of Winnipeg.

The section will be opened next spring.

Crews are putting finishing touches to the highway which may be turned over to the British Columbia government before the end of this month. A barrier has been erected across the road about 80 miles north of Revelstoke to prevent through-traffic over the highway until its official opening.

WEDDINGS

BARNES-KEHLER

A pretty wedding was solemnized on October 1st at the home of Mr. Edward L. Barnes, when Miss Sally Kehler and Mr. Merrill Elton Barnes were united in marriage.

The bride entered the room on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. Jacob Friesen, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Miss Louise Schultz.

The bride was attended by Miss Angeline Kohut as bridesmaid. Mr. Charles Kohut was best-man and little Miss Alice Bruce acted as flower girl.

The room was decorated with fall flowers, some of which had been brought from Washington. The ceremony was performed under a beautiful canopy arch, the Rev. A. S. Caughell officiating.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Caughell sang "I Love You Truly."

About fifty guests were present. Those from a distance were the groom's parents Mr. and Mrs. Perry Barnes from Yakima, Washington; Miss Evelyn Simpson, Miss Nola Finley and Miss Evelyn Barnes, all of Calgary.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts.

Attends Men's Congress

Rev. A. S. Caughell left on Tuesday for Elkhart, Indiana, where he will attend a Men's Congress of the Evangelical Church. Representatives will be present at the Congress from all parts of the United States and Canada, together with men from the Foreign Missions Field. Probably about 2,000 delegates will be present.

No Microphone for Political Platforms

The following statement was made at Ottawa last Wednesday by W. S. Thompson, Director of Censorship: Action was taken to withdraw microphones from platforms of political meetings throughout the Dominion of Canada, during the period of war, prior to the announcement of a provincial election campaign in the Province of Quebec, and the Censorship authorities had indeed no knowledge that such an election was contemplated. The Defence of Canada regulations were made effective on September 3rd for the security, defence, peace, order and welfare of Canada. Regulation No. 39 says:

"No person shall by word of mouth:

spread reports or make statements, false or otherwise, intended or likely to cause disaffection to His Majesty or to interfere with the success of His Majesty's forces or of the forces of any allied or associated Powers or to prejudice His Majesty's relations with foreign Powers; or spread reports or make statements, false or otherwise, intended or likely to prejudice the recruiting, training, discipline, or administration of any of His Majesty's forces."

After a careful review of the situation with Col. R. P. Landry, Broadcasting Censor, it was found that the radio station managements had no satisfactory means of preventing statements contravening the Defence of Canada Regulations from being made when broadcasts were picked up from public platforms. It was, therefore, decided that during the period of war emergency political broadcasts should be confined to studio broadcasting. The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation was asked on September 22nd, prior to the announcement of the Quebec provincial election, to inform all broadcasting stations in Canada of the decision and the reasons for it having been made.

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has, since 1936, had the power to require the production of material to be broadcast before any broadcast takes place. The action taken was entirely for the purpose of ensuring that the Defence of Canada Regulations were not contravened in the heat of political speeches, and censorship action will be confined to that objective alone.

Harvest Hand Killed While Hunting Duck

A shooting accident a week ago Wednesday caused the death of an unidentified harvest hand, from a 22 rifle in the hands of Warren Smith at Burne Lake, 11 miles south-east of Olds. There were 4 men in the duck hunting party, two of whom carried 22 rifles and one a shot gun.

The unfortunate accident occurred when the victim of the tragedy, who was situated some distance in front of the others, rose to his feet just as Smith shot. The bullet entered the back of his head and he died 30 minutes later after being rushed to the Olds Hospital.

An inquest cannot be held until the police establish identification of the deceased, who commenced working on the R. W. Smith farm on Monday. He was about 27 years old, and was thought to be of Belgian birth. He was known to the others as Leo. Other members of the party were Wagner and Luky, hired help at the Smith farm, and Warren Smith, 22 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Smith, well known farmer of the Olds district. —Olds Gazette

A War Problem

Whatever part Canada may be destined to play in the war now raging between Germany on the one hand and Great Britain, Canada, France and Poland, on the other, the fact that Western Canadian agriculture will be charged with the highly important duty of assisting in the task of supplying food commodities to the allied belligerent nations and their armies is quite clear.

What is not clear, however, is the extent to which and for how long Western Canada will be called upon or will be able to render this duty as part of its contribution towards the winning of the war. That is dependent upon many factors such as the length of the war, the bountifulness, or otherwise, of the crop yields while the war is in progress; the extent to which the sea lanes can be kept open for the conveyance of foodstuffs and the arrangements which the allies can make, or may be forced to make by the exigencies of warfare, to ensure an uninterrupted flow of food supplies to their nationals and their fighting forces.

It would be a bold prophet who would venture to predict specific answers to some of the questions involved in these at present unknown factors. The war, for instance, may be a lengthy conflict, as protracted or more so than the "unpleasantness" of 1914-18. On the other hand it may be of very short duration. There are those who are making predictions of the length of the war, ranging all the way from twenty weeks to twenty years. The most that can be said for them is that they are only guesses, and one man's guess is as good as another's.

The Immediate Requirement

This being the case, it is impossible for the individual farmer, or even for those in charge of the nation's affairs, to devise a long range program of production and distribution of agricultural products for the entire duration of the war. All that can be done at the present time, is to so order the distribution of the crop just harvested in such manner as to ensure its delivery at such times and such places as to furnish maximum assistance in the prosecution of the war and to lay plans for production next year on an adequate scale with a similar objective in view. The former is now the problem of the government, and the Canada Wheat Board with the assistance and co-operation of the wheat pools and others marketing agencies.

The latter, the question of preparation for, and production of next year's crop, is one which will involve the co-operation of the individual farmer with the government of the country and the various distributing and marketing agencies. To what extent the quantity and type of production will be left to the discretion of the individual farmer and to what extent, if any, the exigencies of the national welfare, will warrant or necessitate directional measures over production effort on the part of the government has not, at the moment, been announced.

Whether or not any measure of government control over production is assumed, it can be taken for granted that, as long as a supreme effort may be required in the prosecution of the war with the utmost vigor, the farmers of the west will give loyal and effective support and a full quota of co-operation, even though it entail some sacrifice and the abandonment of much cherished plans for the time being.

Mistakes To Avoid

Whether, however, the farmer retains full measure of liberty in ordering his production program for the next and subsequent years, or not, it is to be hoped that plans laid down will take some cognizance of mistakes unwittingly made during the last war and efforts be made to avoid them or, if that is impossible, to ameliorate their after effects.

During the last war, it will be remembered, a great deal of sub-marginal and marginal land was brought under the plow and seeded to wheat in a strenuous effort to meet the requirements of the allied nations for more and more food. As a result of this fine effort food that was urgently required was forthcoming as and when needed, and unquestionably the manner in which farmers responded to the call for an adequate supply of foodstuffs played an important part in the ultimate victory.

Unfortunately, however, after the war, when prices of foodstuffs dropped to peace time level and below, farmers found they had on their hands broken land which was no longer profitable to till and seed and, as a result, much of this land became harborage for noxious weeds and breeding grounds for insect pests which infested good lands and polluted good crops, and eventually became a problem of serious magnitude.

If it is again found necessary, in order to ensure the prosecution of the war with maximum efficiency, to again use some of these ordinarily unprofitable areas to raise bread foods, this subsequent problem should not be overlooked when plans are being made.

Consideration might well be given to the alternative possibility of increasing yields on the more profitable land by more widespread use of pure, vigorous and healthy seed and the adoption of more scientific methods of cultivation, wherever this may be practicable.

And if that is not deemed sufficient and some marginal and sub-marginal lands must be used in order that war requirements may be fully met, then some consideration should be given as to the use to which they may be put subsequently and immediate plans for their use so modified and ordered that this later contingency may be met without undue loss.

In the meantime, however, the prosecution of the war with the utmost vigor is the first claim on all citizens of Western Canada and this must be the prime and immediate objective, regardless of the sacrifices entailed.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "grain" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessens distress from female functional disorders.

Have Sense Of Direction

Common Toads Return Year After Year To Same Pond

According to the London Listener E. G. Boulenger, Curator of Reptiles at the London Zoo, had some queer facts to tell about the common toad. "While the common frog," he said, "lays its egg masses in the first water that is available (sometimes it even chances the water that collects in puddles), the methodical toad exhibits a quite amazing conservatism. It returns year after year to the same pond in order to undertake its domestic duties even if there are apparently equally desirable ponds between its winter quarters and the rendezvous which might be over half-a-mile apart.

These annual cavalcades are usually made in the dark and the toads show a truly amazing sense of direction. I have shown that by experiment. Some years ago I filled a large bag with toads from a particular pond and I turned them loose half-a-mile away. Without exception one and all of them (after a few tentative hops) sallied forth towards the pond they had been taken from. I may say that for the purpose of the test I saw to it that there were other ponds near the place where I had turned them loose.

Sorcerers Appear To Be Still A Real Power In The Land

Sir Hubert Murray, governor of Papua, believes that despite 50 years of government and missionary work among the natives of New Guinea, "humbugging sorcerers still are the real power in the land."

In his annual report the governor said "officers complain that the fear of sorcery prevents natives from assisting them in the arrest of murderers." The report also said "devil trees" hindered a survey of a proposed airfield because the natives refused to work until they were convinced by a spectacular fireworks display that the devils had been driven away.

Democratic Nations Battling For A Just Cause And In Defence Of Their Liberties

It is a moment to pay tribute to the leadership which the British and French Governments have had during all these harrowing weeks and months before the final choice was made.

It is particularly the moment to pay tribute to the personal leadership of Mr. Chamberlain. No democratic statesman in our time has been made by circumstance the subject of more widespread criticism, the target for more cruel humor. He has been chided for his hesitation, found guilty of a lack of courage. But his hesitation is seen now to have been the deeply deserving patience of a man who measured accurately the full, terrible cost of a great war, and his courage has been equal to the cruel test of the occasion.

Summoned by fate to make a choice which was deeply unwelcome to him, precisely at the moment when he was robbed by duplicity of an alliance on which he had counted heavily if matters came to the worst, he has risen magnificently to the responsibility of a great decision.

Certainly, the British people—and the French people with the British—cannot fail to have derived strength and inspiration from the quality of the leadership they have had.

In this dark hour they are fortified by the knowledge that every possible means of preserving peace was explored before they were called upon to make the sacrifice of war. They have the satisfaction of knowing that their case is clear before the world, and that wherever men have read the record of these fateful weeks it is known that they fight only in self-defence and for the sake of principle.

They have had valuable time in which to accustom themselves to the thought that war, a long war, fought on a great scale, might be inevitable, and to make whatever adjustments are necessary to the acceptance of this grim circumstance in a spirit of national unity.

In this respect their position is fundamentally different from that of the German people. For the German people have been schooled in the belief that a real war, and especially a long war, is unthinkable. There can be little doubt that the German Government itself has been convinced, and certainly there is ample evidence that it has taught this conviction to its people, that it began light-heartedly with the seizure of Austria, and which it pursued so successfully in the case of Czechoslovakia and Memel, was a safe game, involving at no point a real risk that the German people might once more be taken into the dark valley of disaster and made to suffer as they suffered in the years from 1914 to 1918, and after.

It has been the German thesis in the case of Poland, first, that the British and French would not stand by their promises; and, second, that even if they should keep their word, a swift and easy victory by Germany over Poland would open the way to a prompt peace. Now that both halves of this thesis have been shattered, we shall have an opportunity to see what effect the certain prospect of a determined war on two fronts simultaneously will have on the morale of a people accustomed by six years of intensive propaganda to the thought of only a single front against a weaker adversary.

We shall have an opportunity to see to what extent old grudges and old quarrels and the bitter memories of blood purges within Germany itself may be revived under the fierce pressure of a war.

Hitler has said that this is victory or death for him. It is also victory or death for decent standards of international conduct and the democratic way of life. —New York Times.

Entire Facilities Of The Salvation Army Placed At Disposal Of Government

The entire facilities of the Salvation Army of the Canadian territory were placed at the disposal of the Federal government for wartime service by Commissioner George L. Carpenter, immediately upon his return to Toronto from England where he was elected head of the world forces of the Salvation Army.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King personally acknowledged the offer of General-elect Carpenter. A telegram received from Mr. King stated: "The Government truly appreciates the offer of the Salvation Army to co-operate in every way possible and your offering the services of your organization at the disposal of the Minister of Defense."

Commissioner Carpenter, who was located at headquarters at London, England, throughout the Great War, is closely familiar with war-service organization. Although he does not officially assume his duties as General until November 1, the war situation may mean that he will have to return to England to assist General Evangeline Booth.

Commissioner Carpenter stated that simultaneously with Canada, Army territories all over the world would place the services of the organization at the disposal of the Governments for wartime service. It was anticipated that the Army would serve along the same lines as during the Great War. Even before he sailed from England, an initial allocation had been set by headquarters for the establishment of huts and a staff organized for overseas service, the Commissioner stated.

New Russian Discovery

Was Used With Success In Flu Outbreak This Year

One war spectre, another world-wide flu epidemic, apparently can be prevented by a new kind of Russian Snuff.

It was described in the printed proceedings of the third international congress for microbiology, by Dr. A. Smorodinsteff, of Moscow. Owing to war conditions he did not attend the congress.

Immune horse serum, a well known flu material, makes the Russian snuff. This serum is the water-clear part of the blood of horses which have been artificially infected with flu. It is dried and inhaled. Dr. Smorodinsteff said.

One inhalation, lasting 15 minutes, and using about a thimblefull of the powder was tried on a big scale this year in Russia, during a real flu outbreak.

The snuff not only mostly prevented flu, but helped to cure it. Snuff was given to 650 men exposed to flu. Only four of these caught it. But alongside them were 1,700 men also exposed, but with no snuff. Among these there were 149 cases of influenza.

The snuff furthermore appeared to prevent pneumonia, the complication which caused almost countless deaths in the Great War flu outbreak of 1918.

Stops The Whine

The production of a tire which does not "whine" has been announced by a British firm. "Whine" on straight-ahead running has been cut out by a new arrangement of the studs. These are now not only irregular in length, but the studs in one rib do not regularly correspond with those in the next. This stops the steady drumming on the road which produces a regular high note. —Industrial Britain.

Soldier's Pay Higher

Private Now Receives $1.30 A Day Instead Of Former $1.10

The pay of troops on active service is higher to-day than in 1914. Instead of $1.10 a day paid during the Great War, soldiers of the non-permanent active militia now being called out on active service will receive $1.30. This rate was announced by the Defence Department, Ottawa.

This is the pay of the private soldier. If he has dependents the additional amount payable to his wife (or female relative who has been responsible for the care and management of his home prior to enlistment) is $35 a month. For each dependent child the soldier will receive an allowance of another $12 a month. The dependents' allowance is contingent upon the soldier assigning $20 a month of his own pay to his wife, or to the female relative who cares for his home.

A dependent son is eligible for the $12 a month up to the age of 16, and a dependent daughter up to the age of 17. These limits do not apply, however, in the case of a child unable through physical or mental infirmity to provide for his or her own maintenance.

On that scale the family of a private soldier, with a wife and three children, would receive monthly $91. This is made up of the $20 which the soldier assigns from his own pay of $1.30 a day, $35 for his wife, and $36 for the three dependent children.

The scale of dependents' allowances for the wife varies somewhat according to rank, but the highest rate for any rank is $60. There is no variation according to rank in the allowance for dependent children.

Under The Northern Lights

Ancient Ceremonial Eskimo Dances Give Way To Modern Jitterbug

Up under the northern lights of the eastern Arctic, in the vicinity of Churchill, medicine men of the Eskimo tribes are in a rage, and waiting for a return to old traditions. The ancient ceremonial dances are giving way to the antics of the modern jitterbug.

Ya gotta be able to truck to get anywhere now, say the young blades of the frozen north.

The annual excursion dance at the Hudson Bay port saw scores of swarthy Eskimos eagerly learning the latest terpsichorean products of civilization, while the oldsters glowered in the background. Very unseemly, they said. No dignity at all.

The highlight of the social season North of 53, the dance was held in the railway freight sheds. From all directions came all kinds of people. Cree and Chippewyan Indians, Eskimos, trappers, Hudson's Bay men and their wives, railroad workers, mounties, and sailors from the ships waiting to take out the grain, all came.

So hot was the pace that the local orchestra was forced to work in two shifts. Between dances incidental music was furnished by the sleigh dogs outside the building.

Attending were 90 American tourists, some from as far south as Texas and Southern California.

The hardest thing in the world is to recondition a worn-out welcome.

Boys' And Girls' Farm Clubs Are Giving New Leadership To Canadian Agriculture

Clearer Air In World

Claim Of Western Australia Due To Geographical Position

The claim is made by the Western Australia government astronomer that the atmosphere over the Perth Observatory is clearer than that over any observatory in the world. A statement had been made by an English clergyman, the Rev. Alan Whitehorn, that the climate of Perth was the finest in the world.

"Some years ago," said the government astronomer, "we were taking a series of photographs of the heavens, and with the photographic plates came instructions to expose them for ten minutes. We discovered that with this exposure we were getting far too many stars in the picture and, after a series of experiments, we found that an exposure of six minutes was sufficient."

The remarkably clear atmosphere over Perth is because of Western Australia's geographical position. The prevailing drift of the atmosphere was from west to east, after passing over 5,000 miles of ocean, the air was entirely free from dust. Coupled with this was the fact that there is no high mountain range along the west coast. There were long stretches of ocean in the west of the South African and South American land masses, but these continents had mountain ranges which upset the atmospheric conditions. Brandon Sun.

Runs On Coal Gas

Efficiency Claimed For New Type Of Motor Car Engine

British members of parliament are to see new types of motor car engines driven by high-compression coal gas which, it is claimed, operate as efficiently as engines driven by either oil or gasoline. Evolved at works in Ashton-under-Lyne, England, it is believed the new engines may revolutionize the fuel aspect of road transport.

The importance of the development during war, when supplies of imported fuel may be precarious, is realized in government circles, where a keen interest in the new engines is being shown.

Already the United Kingdom Gas Corporation is investigating the possibility of setting up gas-filling stations in various parts of the country. These will refuel gas-driven trucks and gas-driven motor vehicles from cylinders containing compressed gas or from gas compressors on precisely the same principle as that used in putting air into tires. The whole operation occupies only a few seconds.

In all agricultural fairs and exhibitions that have so far been held throughout the Dominion this year, no feature has been so outstanding as the work of the Boys' and Girls' Farm Clubs. This junior division of Canadian agriculture is composed of the many and varied junior farm clubs in all the provinces, the provincial and district grain, potato, calf, swine, poultry and other clubs which are all co-ordinated through the medium of the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Farm Work.

The reason of the spectacular success made by the clubs in the competitive lists of the exhibitions is readily apparent, for not only have the young farmers and farmerettes of Canada produced exhibits of the highest quality but by their ardor and enthusiasm are giving a new leadership to Canadian agriculture.

There are many projects embodied in the programme of the work of the Boys' and Girls' Farm Clubs of Canada—live stock, field crops, horticulture, and home economics. As results of this work, potato production in one area has been revolutionized; in other districts, production of live stock has been raised to a high standard and in other areas thousands of bushels of grain have been added to production.

Particular examples of excellent work were seen at the recent Ottawa exhibition when 177 boys showed high-quality calves they had acquired and reared as part of their club work; also at the Lakehead Exhibition at Port Arthur where a young farmer exhibited no less than 11 animals and the champion Holstein cow, all acquired as a result of his calf club work. In Alberta, 74 wheat clubs, approximately 1,385 boys have built up a substantial supply of excellent seed for the province by seeding over 5,500 acres to registered, certified, and improved wheat seed. In Ontario and other provinces, several fine herds of cattle can trace their establishment to what the boys and girls of these clubs have been doing. In short the fine work of the junior division is being carried out with enthusiasm in every province.

The Boys' and Girls' Farm Clubs represent an active membership of more than 37,000, and every year since the movement began 25 years ago the membership keeps on increasing. The motto of the clubs is "Learn to Do by Doing".

Cat With Wings Cannot Fly But Is Some Jumper

Mrs. Mary Roebuck, of Attercliffe, Sheffield, Eng., cannot explain why her black and white tom cat has grown wings.

But he has. Within two months, the cat, misnamed Sally, developed a pair of wings which measure two feet from tip to tip.

When he is sitting they are practically indistinguishable because of their fur covering. But when he runs Sally opens them out to their full extent, just as a owl does.

The wings begin just behind his shoulders, and when closed they are held back along his sides. Their furry tips reach to his hind legs. Beneath the fur covering the wings have a strong bone structure.

Sally cannot fly, and does not flap his wings, but he has the neighborhood cats easily beaten in jumping. With his wings outspread, he soars over five feet.

Local experts have visited Sally. They regard the wings as a purely freak formation.

Weather Affects Fish

Fish are affected by hot weather just as we are. Many mountain trout are often killed by excessive heat. River banks that have been denuded of trees and vegetation are sometimes responsible for warming up water to 75 or 80 degrees, at which temperatures the fish cannot survive.

The royal visit has produced many unusual bits of news; none more astonishing than that Indian chiefs used their wives' lipsticks to apply as war paint.

The World of Wheat

By H. G. L. STRANGE

Director "Crop Testing Plan"

In spite of the unexpectedly large wheat crops this year, there are still large areas in southeastern Saskatchewan and southeastern Alberta where the farmers will unquestionably require considerable quantities of relief seed. This means that the governments will have to purchase seed and make it available to wheat growers now in distress.

The official classification of some 24,000 farmers' samples made by the "crop testing plan" this summer reveal that there are many farmers in the three prairie provinces who have "Crop Testing Plan A," or good true-to-variety seed stock of recommended varieties. The bulk of these farmers now have this good seed grain in their farm bins. It is to be hoped that these farmers will do their best not to sell these stocks to the elevator until they are obliged to do so, but will hold back as long as possible in order to make this seed available to their neighbors.

It is sincerely hoped too, that the Dominion and Provincial Governments, when they require seed for relief purposes, will purchase these farm stocks of good "Crop Testing Plan A" material in preference to grain of unknown quality, much of which may consist of mixed or of unsuitable varieties.

The following factors have tended to raise prices: Extended drought in the U.S. winter wheat belt--British millers have now permission to use twenty per cent Manitoba wheat in their mixture--Argentina finding a good demand for large quantities of wheat--Margins for "futures" trading reduced on both Winnipeg and Chicago markets.

Following factors have tended to lower prices: Searle crop report indicates a 467 million bushel crop for Canada--German grain harvest 16 million bushels above expectations--South African maize crop show a record yield--Canada's exportable wheat surplus estimated at 416 million bushel.

Alberta oil production of approximately 8,000,000 barrels at nearly $10,000,000, is assured for 1939. It is indicated by the official production figures for the first 8 months.

Pool Ask Parity For Farm Buyer.

Parity prices for farm produce in relation to the things the farmers have to buy is the desire of the western wheat pools.

Returning last week from a brief conference of directors of the three prairie co-operative organizations held at Regina, Lew Hutchinson, chairman of the board of the Alberta organization, said:

"The directors of the western wheat pools met in Regina Wednesday. They felt that while the agricultural industry should do its full share in the war, there should be some assurance that the prices for products will be on a parity with the things farmers have to buy.

"The pools are anxious to co-operate with the government in every way in assuring the Allies abundant reserves of food supplies."

Fire Prevention Week October 8 to 14.

Simple Suggestions to Make Your Home Safe From Fires.

Put out lighted matches and smokes before you throw them away. Keep matches where small children can't reach them. Never smoke in garage, barn, or attic, nor in bed.

Remove rubbish, waste papers and all unnecessary combustible materials. Provide metal ash and trash cans. Burn rubbish only in safely covered brick or metal incinerator. Watch the fire.

Examine all stoves, furnaces and smoke pipes to see that they are safe and well away from woodwork or other burnable materials. Have needed repairs made at once.

Value the advice of your fire chief who says that many fires are caused by dirty or defective chimneys. Have the chimney regularly cleaned and have all defects repaired.

Escape the danger of flammable liquid fires and explosions by keeping no gasoline in the house. Do dry cleaning with safe liquids or send the work to the cleaner. Never start fires with kerosene.

Notify the electric company of any electric troubles. Replace blown fuses with new ones--not pennies. Avoid homemade wiring jobs.

Teach everyone in the family to be careful of fire, to watch stoves, fireplaces, electric irons and all possible fire causes, and every day remove old rags, papers and other rubbish.

Fireproof your home as far as possible by fire safe roofs, fire stopping in hollow walls and partitions to stop the spread of flame.

Inquire of your fire chief, when buying a fire extinguisher, to be sure you are getting the right kind. Don't hesitate to ask your firemen whenever you have questions of fire protection.

Remember how to send in an alarm. If telephoning, be sure and give the address as it is clearly understood. Use a neighbors phone rather than the one in the burning building.

Explain to everyone in the house what to do in case of fire, how to put out fire in clothing by wrapping in a rug or blanket, what to do when grease catches fire in the kitchen.

Save life and property from needless destruction by fire by keeping the principles of fire prevention always in mind and never taking a chance with fire.

Duke Of Kent Takes Up Masonic Duties Of His Great Uncle

Masonically, July 19 seems a propitious date for the Duke of Kent. He was invested Senior Grand Warden and installed Provincial Grand Master of Wiltshire on that date in 1933 and 1934. But this July 19 stood out prominently, for on it he was installed Grand Master of the United Grand Lodge of England in succession to his great uncle the Duke of Connaught, for 38 years Grand Master. Some ten thousand, Masons from all parts of the world witnessed the ceremony in Olympia. They had the unexpected pleasure of seeing the King, as a Past Grand Master of Grand Lodge and patron of English Freemasonry, install his brother. They could not resist cheering him—an unusual thing at these ceremonies. At these private functions His Majesty has no trace of nervousness or hesitation. The Duke of Kent found himself momentarily overawed by the ordeal, but he soon regained confidence and carried through the ritual in an efficient manner. He is carrying on a tradition of centuries. The King reminded his brother: "Except for one period of 30 years a member of our house has occupied the throne of Grand Masonry for over a century and a half. For the past 65 years the throne was filled first by our grandfather, King Edward VII, and then by our great uncle, the Duke of Connaught."—London Daily Sketch.

An outstanding achievement of British engineering enterprise is the building of a Diesel locomotive to run on the highest railway line in the world, near La Paz, the capital of Bolivia. The engine has now passed all tests, including the six-mile climb with a gradient of one in 14 along a series of sharp "S" curves from La Paz to the plateau 2,000 feet above the city and 16,000 feet above sea level.

An Interesting Discovery

Upper Atmosphere Has Tides Similar To Those Of Sea

In 1878 Balfour Stewart physicist, pointed out that certain regular changes in the earth's magnetic qualities might be explained if there were tides in the upper atmosphere similar to the tides in the sea. Professor E. V. Appleton and K. Weeks of Cambridge have reported that they have succeeded in establishing the existence of these tides, using wireless apparatus and methods. At a level of 70 miles above the ground they found that the moon lifts the atmosphere 5,280 feet twice daily, and the range of it might be compared with the maximum sea tide at London Bridge of 21 feet and with the air tide of about 10 inches, which is estimated for surface conditions at Greenwich. What causes this enormous tide at high levels is not clear at present, and it is possible that a world survey using the methods developed at Cambridge, which involve the timing of radio signals, to 1-100,000th of the second, will be required before the matter can be finally elucidated. — St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Reporter's Masterpiece

City Editor Did Not Know Where Obituary Was Obtained

Nunnally Johnson, says Leonard Lyons, in the New York Post, is revealing this story of Herbert Asbury, when he was a reporter for the New York Herald and was assigned to write the obituary for Eleanor Duse. He wrote six columns replete with flowery descriptions of her talents and of her immortality, but the city editor was not content. "You're writing about Duse's death," Asbury was warned, "the greatest actress who ever lived. Start again." Asbury obliged, and turned in a masterpiece which was front-paged. The city editor never knew that Asbury had searched in the newspaper's morgue for an obituary from which he borrowed, word for word, the descriptions of fame, achievement and universal grief. The obituary was that of Joe Daniel, the Gorilla.

Good Story About A Butcher And His Fussy Customer

Bruce Barton in the course of literary argument at a reception:

"My friend's literary references are mixed. He reminds me of a story."

"A lady went into a butcher's and asked for a pound of file of beef."

"The butcher cut it off. 'There you are, ma'am. Just 14 ounces.'"

"But the lady said, 'No. I want a pound exactly. It's for an important dish at an important luncheon.'"

"The butcher cut off a bigger chunk. 'Eighteen ounces. That all right, ma'am?'"

"No," said the lady—and she was a rich and valued customer—no. I want you to cut me off a pound, no more and no less."

"Oh, groaned the butcher, as he took up his knife again, 'you and your pound of flesh? Why, you're a regular Shylock Holmes!'" Philadelphia Inquirer.

Jack Miner who owns the Jack Miner Bird sanctuary at Kingsville, Ontario, Canada, catches all varieties of birds and places a band on their legs to study the route of migration.

To spread the gospel of Jesus Christ, Jack Miner puts a verse of scripture on one side of the tag, thus every person who shoots a tagged bird gets a verse of scripture. This has resulted in the hunters of North America calling them "Jack Miner's missionary geese."

HEALTH BEHAVIOUR IN SCHOOL

In Ontario's new program for elementary schools, health has been given a foremost place. Hon. Dr. L. J. Simpson, Minister of Education for Ontario in the last issue of "Health" pointed out that in the new program the goal of health education will be health behaviour — "Not what the child knows about health but what he does about it."

In the past, health has been merely a subject for pupils to study so as to be able to answer questions. Often a pupil would pass a test with flying colors but there would be no improvement in his or her health. The new plan is to inspire pupils to do something about their own health.

There will be regular checking of health habits to see that knowledge and practice go hand in hand, along with a carefully planned course of exercises in physical training. The new program also implies daily, as well as annual or semi-annual examination of pupils individually. By this means, diseases in their early stages will be detected, as well as deficiencies in height, weight, hearing and sight.

In making provision for greater attention to health, Ontario's educational authorities have revised values placed on different studies. For example, arithmetic has long been given first place; now it will be in a possible fifth place of importance. "It has been all too common" says the Minister of Education "to find the fresh morning hours and at least 30 per cent. of the day's working hours, as well as the bulk of home work, devoted to this study."

"Wal, I hear dem talk wid de boss. Dey say you race dem to Whale so you can tell Neil Campbell about de monee."

"What did Gabriel say?"

"He say, no, you went for dog."

Good old Gabriel, thought Alan, he's still my friend. Then he asked: "What has Rivard been saying? I know that he's done all he could to turn the Madame and Berthe against me. Berthe wouldn't talk to me to-night."

Pierre scowled and shook his head. "Ah, dat ees bad—ver' bad. Madame Dessane she lak' Arsene, yes, she lak' dat young feller. But Ma'mi-selle Berthe she weel be all right. Eet ees dat woman, Hanbury, dat mak' all de troubl'. She turn Fort George on hees head, so w'en Arsene tell Berthe you talk to her to-night, poof! She get mad lak de odder woman."

"She stops with the Northern Trading people?"

"Ah-hah! And she make troubl' dere quick wid Madame Martin. De woman are all cross wid her. She weel not tell dem w'y she come to Fort George."

The moon was up when Alan took the river trail to the Hudson's Bay settlement. His thoughts brooded over the mood in which he had found Berthe. There remained but a short space, now, before he would have to start for the headwaters—probably with the police; only too brief an interval to win back Berthe. And then there would be months of absence, possibly a year or more in the interior with John McCord, while Rivard and Madame Dessane poisoned her mind. But McCord had promised him money and money he needed.

"I got the pups in the Nastapokas, from a Husky."

The following morning when Alan and Noel returned from their fish nets and were playing with the huge puppies inside the dog stockade, they had a caller.

"G'morning, Cameron!" Alan looked up to recognize the thick-set figure of Sergeant McQueen behind the slabs of the gate. "You got your dogs, I see. Beauties, too! Nothing like them at Whale River."

"I got the pups in the Nastapokas, from a Husky," he answered, as the slate-gray Powder, pursued by Shot and the brown-patched Rogue circled him in a mad race, while Rough lay near at hand, watching their childish antics through condescending, oblique eyes.

"I want to talk with you, Cameron."

"All right."

Leaving Noel with the dogs, Alan joined McQueen and entered his house. The policeman took the chair Alan offered and leisurely filled and lit his pipe, then asked abruptly, "When do we start up river?"

It was evident that McQueen intended to ignore the matter of the race to Whale River, was satisfied, as was most of Fort George, that Alan had met McCord. For a space the eyes of the youth met the other's in a fixed stare.

"I'm starting in about a week," said Alan. "Are you men strong-water men?"

"Yes, they're good river men. Slade and I were brought up in a canoe."

"Good thing for you. There's some bad poling water on this river."

"Well, when you're ready to start, let me know," said McQueen.

"You'll be a month reaching the three forks and you'll need three months' grub, for you might miss the caribou," said Alan, hoping to learn whether the police intended to winter in the interior or to return before the ice.

"Three months?" laughed the other, rising. "We're travelling in two canoes with flour for six months."

As Alan watched McQueen walk toward the Hudson's Bay store he said aloud: "No, you won't get John McCord. What a mess he'd make of you and Slade if you ever met him!"

Torn between pride and the desire to see Berthe, Alan sat in his cabin that evening when the afterglow had faded from the sky and the rose flush of the river surface had retreated before the purple dusk. But a few days remained now before his start to meet John McCord and Heather. When would he again see Fort George and the girl who doubted him?

Noel was visiting at a Montagnais tipi and Alan smoked, alone with his plans. There had been a list of things to be bought for Heather through one of the Montagnais girls, a friend of Noel, to avoid suspicion. And there was extra flour and sugar, beans and tea, that McCord wanted to cache somewhere before they lunged into the unknown tundra—a relief cache to which they could retreat if the caribou failed. Alan sat deep in thought when the yelping puppies in the stockade aroused Rough from his sleep. He went to the door, listened, sniffed, then snarled.

"Hello, there! Alan Cameron! Please take care of your dog! I want to see you!"

It was the rich, throaty voice that had argued with Alan the night before at the French Company's trade-house. Alan's dark brows met in a scowl but he sent Rough to his corner and opened the door.

"Good evening! Will you come in?" he said, wondering how soon Rivard would reach Berthe with the news that Mrs. Hanbury had been at his house, and yet hoping, as this woman was a government agent, to learn more of John and Heather McCord.

Alan lit another candle and placed

Vision Of Nine-Year-Old Boy Made Him See Objects Upside Down

Richard Kenealy's optical nightmare is over.

The nine-year-old's world of upside-down moving objects is now right side up. No longer does he complain that he sees locomotives, automobiles, running playmates and other moving things wrong side up.

Training him to use only one eye at a time by switching opaque lens from one side to the other was credited by Dr. Edmund Krump with putting Richard's world in order. He uses both eyes now, apparently with normal results.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE CONTROL BOARD.

NOTICE to Persons Mailing Goods or Other Property
Out of Canada

A Foreign Exchange Control Board has been established by Order-in-council of the Dominion Government, under the War Measures Act, for the purpose of regulating and controlling transactions in foreign exchange and foreign trade.

Everyone mailing parcels or letters out of Canada, containing goods (such as currency, securities or other evidences of ownership or indebtedness), should take note of following requirements:

1. No export of goods by mail is permitted unless application for a licence is submitted to the Postmaster at the time of mailing.
If no foreign exchange is to be obtained for the export, a licence must be obtained in advance through a chartered bank and submitted to the postmaster along with licence mentioned in paragraph 1, above.
2. No export by mail of property other than goods (for example: cash, bonds, stocks, etc.) is permitted, unless a licence applicable to these goods has been obtained in advance through a chartered bank and submitted to the Postmaster.
3. NO export licence is required in the following cases: (a) bank drafts, money orders, letters of credit, etc., purchased from a chartered bank (or from the Post Office).
(b) Gifts of a value not exceeding $25 sent out of Canada. This exemption applies to any person only once in any one calendar month.
4. The mailing of any letter or parcel containing goods or other property to a foreign address without inspection by the Postmaster will, if the contents are exempt, result in needless delay; if the contents are not exempt, such mailing is a violation of the Foreign Exchange Control Order, and renders the offender subject to penalties. In all such cases, therefore, the letter or parcel should be submitted to the Postmaster before mailing.
